Dear Mr. McAllaster:

I would like to express to you how pleased I was with your and your secretary's service to myself and the OB community as a whole. There are very few businessmen left in this world, that offer "freebies" in the form of cute contests or otherwise.

I sincerely thank you for allowing me the opportunity to have my "late" income taxes done at no cost. I am just glad they were not too complicated. The little contest was so cute and tricky, I still can't believe I won it. You graciously followed through with the generous giving of your services according to my having won the $250.00 certificate in the contest. I thank my lucky stars because I couldn't have gotten the darn taxes done without that bit of luck and without you all. I guess I'm having a lucky streak, because a couple days, later I was finally offered the coveted full time teaching contract in Sweetwater (for fall semester).

I will be glad to recommend you and your services to my friends and to use your services again in the future.

Thanks again!!

Sincerely,

ston
